WARD FAMILY MEAL TRAIN

After the recent homegoing of Pat Ward, we would love to bless David Ward and the family by providing meals for the upcoming weeks to assist them during this season. You can serve by 1) providing a meal or 2) send a food/grocery gift card. We have set up a meal train online to track who is bringing food on which days. Please scan the QR code with your phone and sign up online OR stop by the connect center in the church lobby and they can assist you.

Last Sunday, Pastor Paul shared the process of how to overcome discouragement and walked us through the nature, the cause, and the cure when we face moments of discouragement. When discouragement comes knocking on our door, it is never convenient, and it can quickly become debilitating. We all face it. It is around every corner.

Nehemiah had lots of reasons to be discouraged. His enemies mocked him as he began to rebuild the wall. They threatened him with a military attack. They tried to lure him away from the city and the task of rebuilding the wall. They spoke false charges against him. They tried to discredit him and his work. And they even tried to frighten him with spies and letters filled with fear.

When we face those moments, where do we turn, how do we respond?

Do we kneel first? In other words, do we turn to God immediately in times of discouragement and seek Him or do we grumble and complain and give in to discouragement? Prayer helps to keep our focus on God and doesn't allow the discouragement to have a foothold in our lives. Nehemiah models this multiple times: Nehemiah 1:5-6, "I pray, Lord God of heaven ... please let your ear be attentive..." and again in 2:4, "So I prayed to the God of heaven." and again in 4:4 "Hear, O our God, for we are despised".

The next time you are faced with discouragement, stop, and cry out to God and seek His help.
