PSALM 16

Psalm 16 begins with David crying out to the Lord for help. Verse 1 says “Preserve me O God. Protect me.” But a few verses later, David is rejoicing. Psalm 16:9 says “Therefore my heart is glad and my whole being rejoices.” What happens between these two verses that causes David to have such a dramatic shift in his countenance?

David focuses on who God is! In verses 1-8, David shares that God is his refuge (vs1), his master (vs2), his treasure (vs5-6), his counselor (vs7), and his focus (vs8). David is filled with joy because he knows WHO God is and he keeps that ever before him.

David wasn't focused on the problem but rather on who could see him through it. We too can have confidence when we set God before us, when we focus on Him and abide in Him. He is the one guiding us. He's the one leading. He is our refuge. He is our master; He is our treasure. He is our counselor. And we too can rejoice in the midst of the chaos of life because he guides us.

Psalm 16:11 says “You make known to me the path of life; in your presence there is fullness of joy; at your right hand are pleasures forevermore.” No matter what we are facing, you can be confident in our next steps because God will make it clear. He will make it known to us as we focus on him. And as we remain in his presence, we will find the fullness of joy and abundant life.
